COMPASS COMPUTING GROUP ASSISTS CITY OF PORTLAND IN WINNING E-GOVERNANCE AWARD

PORTLAND, OR - May 8, 2009 - Compass Computing Group partnered with the City of Portland's Bureau of Technology Services on a project to enable businesses to request a business license, pay their business taxes, and maintain their accounts on-line via the city's website, www.portlandonline.com.

This capability was just recognized by the E-Governance Institute, School of Public Affairs and Administration at Rutgers University-Newark, the Department of Public Administration at San Francisco State University, and the Public Technology Institute (PTI) as one of the features that made www.portlandonline.com one of the best municipal web sites in the nation, placing second behind Washington, DC.

Frank Bubenik, co-owner of Compass Computing Group, said " We enjoyed working with Bureau of Technology Services staff and the city's Revenue Bureau staff to make it easy for businesses to pay their taxes on-line. It is especially nice that you can choose to pay either by ACH or by credit card."
