OREGON STATE POLICE SELECT COMPASS COMPUTING GROUP FOR LOIS ENHANCEMENTS

PORTLAND, OR - April 13, 2010 - Compass Computing Group (CCGI) has been selected by the Oregon State Police to enhance their Lab Online Information System (LOIS).

The Forensic Services Division of Oregon State Police (OSP) maintains six (6) labs across the state of Oregon and manages laboratory data with the Laboratory Information Management System (LIMS) Justice Trax. This system tracks all evidence and analyses performed. Data within the LIMS database is used for the generation of laboratory reports. In addition, the data is replicated to the LOIS database on a regular schedule for the posting of laboratory reports to OSP customers. LOIS provides information to Forensic Services Division personnel via an internet web site which allows registered users to check the status of their cases and electronically download copies of reports.
